ELECTRICITY GENERATION DISRUPTION FROM SENOKO POWER STATION

21 December 2006 – At 3:55 pm, we suffered a gas supply interruption from our Petronas gas supply from Malaysia. As a result, gas supply to two of our gas-fired generators was cut and electricity generation from these generators was lost.

This supply interruption was of a sudden and temporary nature, and its reason is under investigation. We have had an excellent record of reliability with regard to our Malaysian gas supply since its inception in 1992, and this is the first time an incident of such a nature has occurred.

Full gas supply has been restored and the affected units are being returned to service.
